DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

3. Claims 1-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Depel et al (US 4,582,058).

4. As to claims 1-25, Depel et al teaches a tracheotomy valve unit adapted to cooperate with a tracheotomy tube inserted into a patient's trachea said valve unit comprising: (a) a first end adapted for connection to the free end of the tracheotomy tube; (b) a second end comprising a valve unit inlet; (c) a first valve 1 that permits airflow from the valve unit inlet through the valve unit and to the tube in the patient's trachea when the patient inhales, and blocks airflow from the tube through the valve unit when the patient exhales, said first valve comprising a seating ring 8, a thin, flexible diaphragm 7 biased against the seating ring, thereby making positive closure contact therewith, and a rivet 9 for connecting the diaphragm to the seating ring, the rivet having a length to bias the diaphragm against the seating ring; and (d) a second valve (See Col. 6, lines 63-68 and Col. 7) that permits airflow from the tube through the valve unit and out the valve unit when the intrathoracic pressure during expiration is greater than about 12 cm of water, and blocks such airflow when the intrathoracic pressure during expiration is less about 3 cm of water, wherein the second valve comprises a slit valve or an umbrella valve that is located in an axial bore hole of the rivet (See Cols. 3-10; See Col. 9 lines 33-57 which inherently teaches the pressure recited above).

However, if Applicant believes that the above recited pressures are not inherent in the teaching of Depel, it should be noted in Col. 5, lines 38-45, Depel teaches that the blow-out/second valve may be predeterminedly tuned, i.e., the valve may be set at a certain pressure at which to open and close which is what Applicant has disclosed on the specification on page 4, paragraph 20. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide the second valve opening and closing at a certain pressure based on the intended use of the valve.
